THE "SPARLING" PATENT PADLOCK.

No. 1712-33-M. Government of India Public Works Department
Civil Works (miscellaneous) Memorandum. Simla, the 1st
December 1914.

LOCKS.—Suitability of "Sparling" Patent—

The attention of the Government of India has recently been drawn to the excellence of "Sparling" patent padlocks manufactured at the "Sparling" Lock Works at Aligarh.

The principal advantages of these locks lie in their great strength, being made out of solid brass, and the extreme difficulty in breaking them or fitting them with false or skeleton keys. The locks have been submitted to, and have successfully withstood, very severe tests in Government workshops, and appear to be eminently suited to all purposes for which a secure and reliable padlock is required. As the locks are made in India, and are obtainable at a very much cheaper rate than imported padlocks at all comparable with them in quality, the attention of local Governments and of other authorities is drawn to this local product.

Full particulars can be obtained from the—

ALIGARH, United Provinces.
